

The Cancer Assistance Program was created to assist individuals in navigating through the increasing complexities of the public health care system.

Cancer Assistance Program

Cancer Assistance is a Canadian first, specializing in cancer care. It is the only program of its kind that is directed by a group of highly trained oncologists and delivered by experienced and accredited oncology nurses who work with patient's and their immediate family to ensure that they receive the right treatment, at the right time, and in the right place.

Cancer Assistance navigates cancer patients and their eligible dependents through the public health care system. Oncology nurses backed by leading oncology specialists navigate the patient by telephone providing across Canada, in both rural and urban communities.

Benefit of the program:

- Help reduce the physical and emotional impact of cancer
- Ensure medical best practices are utilized throughout active treatment
- Provide expert assessment of current cancer treatment approaches
- Provide answers to patients' questions and explanation of tests and treatments
- Empower patients to better understand their diagnosis and treatment options
- Overall 92% of members are either able to work throughout their treatment
